Pursuant to a GAO audit report citing that 62 different Federal funding sources were being used in some manner for transportation services, a study was undertaken to simplify reporting requirements for coordinated transportation providers using funding under any of the 62 Federal programs that support passenger transportation. A research of states and their funding and reporting mechanisms for each of the 62 programs was conducted. RLS participated in this research and is also participating in the development of a communications strategy and toolkit which can be used at the local level to implement the recommendations developed as a result of this project.
